UPDATE REGARDING INTERNAL INVESTIGATION RELATED TO THE DETERMINATION OF STUDENT PLACEMENT RATES

As previously reported, the Company's Board of Directors directed outside independent legal counsel, Dewey & LeBoeuf ("Dewey"), to conduct an investigation into the determination of placement rates at its Health Education segment schools and also directed counsel to review placement rate determination practices at all of the Company's domestic schools. Outside independent legal counsel has substantially completed its investigation of the placement rate determination practices at the Company's Health Education segment schools, as well as its review of the placement rate determination practices at the Company's Art & Design segment schools.

Counsel's investigation confirmed the existence of improper placement determination practices at certain of the Company's Health Education segment schools, and, for the Company's Health Education and Art & Design segment schools, Dewey identified certain placements that lacked sufficient supporting documentation or otherwise did not meet applicable placement guidelines established by the Company. In accordance with their annual reporting schedule, the Company's Health Education and Art & Design segment schools recently reported 2010-2011 placement rates to their accreditor, the Accrediting Counsel for Independent Colleges and Schools ("ACICS"), taking into account Dewey's findings. The ACICS placement rate standard is 65%. Placement rates below this minimum standard may subject an institution to increased accreditation oversight, which may include increased reporting requirements, a requirement that the institution submit a corrective action plan or undergo an on-site evaluation, or restrictions on the addition of new locations or programs. ACICS may also initiate accreditation proceedings such as a show-cause directive, an action to defer or deny action related to an institution's application for a new grant of accreditation, or an action to suspend an institution's accreditation if it fails to meet this standard. Based on their recently reported 2010-2011 placement rates, 13 of the Company's 49 ACICS-accredited Health Education and Art & Design segment schools met ACICS' 65% minimum placement rate standard for the 2010-2011 reporting period. ACICS could determine that additional schools do not meet its minimum placement rate standard. The Company has scheduled a meeting with ACICS to address these reported rates.

At the direction of the Board of Directors, in the third quarter Career Education commenced corrective action and has implemented enhanced controls and procedures with respect to the determination of placement rates by its Health Education and Art & Design segment schools. As part of this effort, the Company has adopted new career services policies and procedures and trained all of the career services employees in its Health Education and Art & Design segment schools on those new policies and procedures.

UPDATE REGARDING NYAG INVESTIGATION

As also previously reported, Career Education received a subpoena from the Attorney General of the State of New York ("NYAG") relating to the NYAG's investigation of whether the Company and certain of its schools have complied with certain New York state consumer protection, securities, finance and other laws. The Company has reported the preliminary results of its internal investigation of placement rate determination practices to the NYAG as they relate to the Company's New York-based ground schools. The Company continues to fully cooperate with the NYAG with a view towards satisfying their inquiries as promptly as possible.
