August 24, 2015

Earlier this year (in late February 2015), Murphy USA participated in a voluntary product withdrawal which affected the product shown below. That product withdrawal was initiated after Murphy USA was informed by its manufacturer that they may contain a trace amount of Tree Nuts (in particular walnuts), which was not declared on the labels.

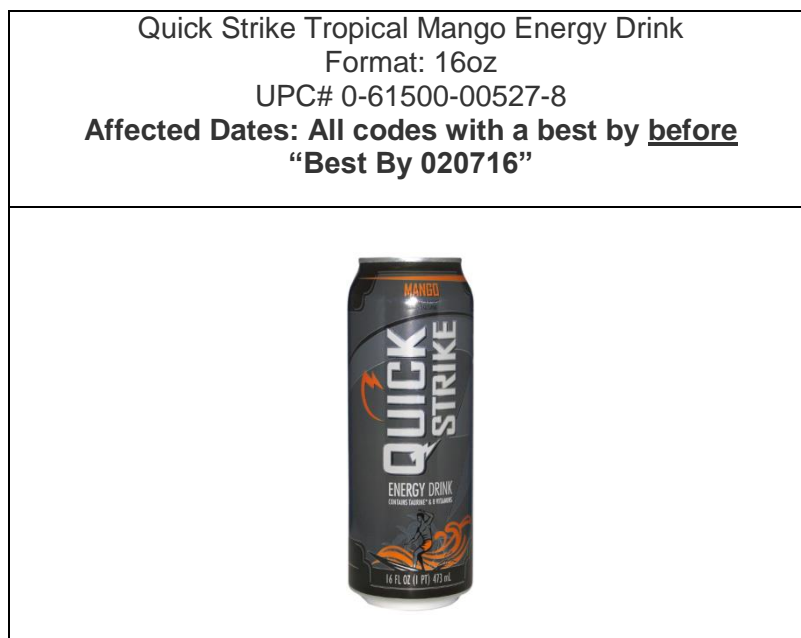

Those individuals who have a severe sensitivity to Tree Nuts (in particular walnut), may run a risk of serious or life-threatening reaction if they consume any of these products. However, no illnesses have been reported to date in connection with any of these products.

PLEASE NOTE – The products that were affected by this product recall were removed from sale earlier this year and not currently available on store shelves. New replacement product manufactured with compliant ingredients is now in Murphy USA Stores with the same label, but a new Date Code, and are not impacted by this product recall.

We are notifying our shoppers of this prior action to ensure all affected products that may have been purchased prior to the withdrawal in February 2015 have in fact been returned for a full refund.

Only the specific Date Codes below were affected by this Notice.
