Safe Harbor Statement

This presentation, the related remarks, and the responses to various questions may contain various “forward-looking statements” within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995, which represent Regional Management Corp.’s expectations or beliefs concerning future events. Words such as “may,” “will,” “should,” “likely,” “anticipates,” “expects,” “intends,” “plans,” “projects,” “believes,” “estimates,” “outlook,” and similar expressions may be used to identify these forward-looking statements. Such forward-looking statements are about matters that are inherently subject to risks and uncertainties, many of which are outside of the control of Regional Management. Factors that could cause actual results or performance to differ from the expectations expressed or implied in such forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, the following: changes in general economic conditions, including levels of unemployment and bankruptcies; risks associated with Regional Management’s transition to a new loan origination and servicing software system; risks related to opening new branches, including the ability or inability to open new branches as planned; risks inherent in making loans, including repayment risks and value of collateral, which risks may increase in light of adverse or recessionary economic conditions; changes in interest rates; the risk that Regional Management’s existing sources of liquidity become insufficient to satisfy its needs or that its access to these sources becomes unexpectedly restricted; changes in federal, state, or local laws, regulations, or regulatory policies and practices, and risks associated with the manner in which laws and regulations are interpreted, implemented, and enforced; the impact of changes in tax laws, guidance, and interpretations, including related to certain provisions of the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act; the timing and amount of revenues that may be recognized by Regional Management; changes in current revenue and expense trends (including trends affecting delinquencies and credit losses); changes in Regional Management’s markets and general changes in the economy (particularly in the markets served by Regional Management); changes in the competitive environment in which Regional Management operates or in the demand for its products; risks related to acquisitions; changes in operating and administrative expenses; and the departure, transition, or replacement of key personnel. Such factors and others are discussed in greater detail in Regional Management’s filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission. We cannot guarantee future events, results, actions, levels of activity, performance, or achievements.

Except to the extent required by law, neither Regional Management nor any of its respective agents, employees, or advisors intend or have any duty or obligation to supplement, amend, update, or revise any forward-looking statement, whether as a result of new information, future developments, or otherwise.

- Large loans continue to grow and now represent over 45% of total loan portfolio
- For first time, large loans ($364 million) are greater than small loans ($360 million)
- Core loans are 90% of total loan portfolio
- 1st time core loans grew in 1Q

2018 & 2019: Realize the Benefits of Our Investments

- Continue double-digit core portfolio growth through hybrid approach
 - Increase receivables per branch and de novo expansion
- Modernized infrastructure provides Regional with:
 - Electronic payments, customer portal, texting
 - Integrated go-to-market capabilities – mail, digital, branch
 - More time for branch personnel to focus on sales and service
- Digital platform will enhance existing customer engagement and experience, as well as attract new digital-oriented customers
 - Test and learn approach allows for controlled progress
 - Integration with affiliates like LendingTree
- Strong credit function to improve the credit quality of new loans
 - Automation of underwriting, which should significantly reduce manual errors
 - New credit scorecards
- Centralized collections to decrease delinquency and reduce net credit losses
 - Allows branch labor to focus on local marketing and customer sales

With most large investments behind us, and our effective tax rate dropping from approximately 38% to 25%, we expect over time to:

- Reduce G&A expense as a percentage of receivables
- Improve ROA & ROE over time
- Increase long-term profitability

Significant Market Opportunity

- Regional’s 370,000 customer accounts represent 0.5% of the approximately 80 million Americans that generally align with the Company’s customer base.
- Regional believes that most of this population is underserved and provides an attractive market opportunity.
