

Ingredion Named as a 2016 World's Most Ethical Company for Third Consecutive Year

March 7, 2016

Ingredion was also honored with a World's Most Ethical Company award in a 2015 (above). Alexander Brigham (left), Executive Chairman and Founder of Ethisphere, presents to Gail Cotterman, Administrative Assistant; Larry Karr, Associate General Counsel, North America; and Robin L. Brown, Vice President, Government Affairs and External Relations, who accepted the honor on behalf of Ingredion.

WESTCHESTER, Illinois – Ingredion has been named as a 2016 World's Most Ethical Company for the third consecutive year, and advancing the standards of ethical business practices.

Ingredion has been recognized with the 2016 World's Most Ethical Company award in the food and agriculture category, underscoring its commitment to ethical business practices.

"It is an honor to be named one of the World's Most Ethical Companies. We continually strive to uphold the highest ethical standards, and this is a testament of our success," said Ellen Brown, Vice President, Government Affairs and External Relations.

This year marks the tenth anniversary of the World's Most Ethical Company award, which recognizes those companies that align their business with their DNA, and in doing so, shape future industry trends.

"Companies rely on Ethisphere to continue to demonstrate leadership in areas like citizenship, communities, customers and employees. We are proud to be named a World's Most Ethical Company."

The World's Most Ethical Company award is based on a framework developed over years of research and is the most comprehensive and objective. The World's Most Ethical Company Methodology Ad performance in an objective, consistent and standardized way. The information collected provides a comprehensive snapshot of a company's performance in corporate governance, risk, sustainability, compliance and ethics.

Scores are generated in five key categories: ethics and compliance program (35%), corporate citizenship and responsibility (25%), innovation and reputation (10%), financial performance (10%) and employee satisfaction (20%). The scores are then provided to all companies who participate in the process.

Click here to see the full list of the 2016 World's Most Ethical Companies.

The Ethisphere® Institute is the global leader in defining and advancing the standards of ethical business practices that help companies achieve their goals. Ethisphere has deep expertise in measuring and defining core ethics standards using data-driven insights that help companies achieve their goals. Ethisphere's World's Most Ethical Companies® recognition program, provides a community of industry experts and best practices in ethics with the publication of Ethisphere magazine.